ADVERTISEMENTS

.....p. 192

"G's gives you pretty good food for the money. For the price you pay you can't beat it. It is convenient for a quick bite to eat, since it is just a few blocks from school." Frank Leone.

*A faded, earthy-brown cocoon hanging lifelessly from a dainty twig so out of place among the bright greens
 of new spring leaves.
 I am surprised that I have noticed it.
 I am reminded of my old life . . .
 once empty,
 meaningless.
 Yet when I felt hidden in an immense world of people with broken lives,
 You touched my dying soul-
 and gave me Life.
 Since
 I have not been the same.*

*I am only beginning to see what You meant when You called me a new creation.
I see my world in a different light . . .
in a new dimension.
I sense changes taking place within myself.*

*I see myself through Your eyes . . .
so special,
so unique,
with a plan for my life as intricately designed as the woven shell of the waiting caterpillar.
In my excitement and joy
I burst into laughter that reaches the sky and touches people around me.*

*I find I am not afraid to give myself
away to others.
The price I may pay is of no importance for I see lives . . .
changed,
rearranged,
because they have seen
Christ through me.
Together we join in growing to be more like Christ . . .
It must be exciting
for the dull, sluggish caterpillar to discover that in the darkness of its shell in exchange for patient waiting-wings of velvet.*

*I celebrate days filled with new discoveries.
As You reveal Yourself
to me, trustingly
placing new truths
in my hands,
I grow rapidly, pushing through the darkness to see the light . . .
If I,
in my human perspective,
could choose,
I would welcome only new and* *exciting experiences.

Yet I am learning that extraordinary days are few and it is the ordinary days
that fill our lives.
Maybe it is ironic*

*but I find that in the valley and through ordinary days when I am . . .
weary,
alone,
I am challenged to lean
only on Christ,
and changes take place
that to the world seem illogical . . .
joy in sorrow,*

*peace through the storm,
 praise for trials . . .
 Proofs that a Living God lives within me.
 Like the faded, earthy cocoon
 harboring a beautiful butterfly . . .
 In my earthen vessel
 I have a Treasure-
 Christ lives in me.
 I shall never be the same.
 Transformations . . . becoming like Christ.*

Dr. Robert E. Clark

It is obvious Dr. Robert Clark has a place in his heart for children and college age people. If you've been privileged to learn about Cuddly Cradle Roll, Negative Nursery, Jumping Juniors in Educational Work of the Church, you realize he talks from experience. He shares with gentle pride about his 6 children who enable him to speak with authority on principles for the Christian home.

Dr. Clark's goal to make a significant contribution in the field of education is being fulfilled through his teaching and writing. Desire to touch lives of people the Lord has entrusted to him is taking place on our campus. His primary goal to be conformed to the image of Christ makes his life an encouragement and an example to follow.

If it hasn't already been noticed, Dr. Clark holds a very special place in the hearts of Moody students.

Faculty and Administration -

"You're not just a teacher and you're not just a student. You're able to relate to the students well and more caring." Mayor Pizzella

"Teachers here at MBI are as human as you and I. They show a 'real' concern for each student." Katie Marshall

Our President

Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. II Timothy 2:15

Our whole lives are marked by transformations. Physically, emotionally, and mentally, we are constantly changing. As children of God, He has initiated our spiritual transformation. Through the work of Jesus Christ, He empowered us to change from darkness to light. The Lord also expects us to use this power and holds us responsible for a continuing spiritual transformation. We have endeavored with you to reach this goal through study and interaction. It is our prayer that each of you will "... be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what the will of God is, that which is good, and acceptable and perfect." Romans 12:2 (NASB).

We love you.
Your friend,

George Sweeting

Deans

Ever hear of people qualities? That's the ability to chat, make friends, show concern and accept people unconditionally. That's what makes a Dean.

"We attempt to meet non-academic needs of students," said Ruth Irvine of the Dean's staff. The deans share burdens and excitement as students grow and develop their own potential. Character development is often uncomfortable but worth the students' collection of new discoveries about themselves.

Incoming freshmen are divided alphabetically between Deans. Interviews are scheduled to meet and chat with students. Many students feel freedom to share with their deans while others find they are comfortable with another staff member. "We encourage students to talk to someone they are comfortable with," said Mike Lastoria.

Deans are more than personnel to advise and encourage. They are people building special relationships with students.

Evening School

Is anyone interested in taking Moody courses in Florida? Moody Evening Schools established this year in Delray Beach and St. Petersburg, Florida made that possible. These are only 2 of the 10 Moody Evening Schools located in five different states. The schools offer over 180 courses taught by nearly 85 instructors.

Classes are largely made up of lay men and women. D.L. Moody desired people to stand in the gap between laity and clergy. Biblical knowledge received in Evening-Extension School prepares students for that important role.

Library

"Anything from dating to studying goes on in the library," said Mr. Richard Schock, head librarian, with a smile. How old is our well-used library? It started around 1899 almost 13 years after the founding of Moody Bible Institute. The author of the library's first three books was Spurgeon. The fourth book was written by D.L. Moody.

Most of the books deal with humanities and social sciences. A few books are donated while two-thirds are ordered from a large variety of religious publishers. Although the library specializes in religious material, a healthy number of related books ordered from non-religious publishers fill the shelves.

Practical Christian Work

Imagine a PCW assignment every weekday afternoon, Saturday and all day Sunday — now that's learning by doing. Moody was convinced that classroom knowledge needed practical application. His school, the first to use Christian assignments, served as a model for other Bible colleges.

Students' abilities and experience are carefully considered when assigning PCW assignments. Freshmen receive information sheets with their applications to aid the department in placing them. Upper classmen are assigned according to their requests. There are more requests for students than can be filled. "The potential of our student body reaching Chicago is exciting," said Dr. Leonard Rascher, Director. The PCW personnel effect in a meaningful way the lives of students zealous for the Lord.

Registrar

Dr. Sweeting announces the number of incoming freshmen men . . . A round of female applause is given . . . Foreign students in the freshman class stand to be acknowledged . . . Another round of applause . . . Who compiled Dr. Sweeting's statistics? The Registrar's Office, of course.

In this day of information explosion, providing meaningful information for administration, faculty, students and government is not any easy task. "We mostly enjoy working with students who are potentially going to be something," said Mr. Shervy, Director of Admissions and Chief Registrar.

Correspondence School

The letter read simply, "Oh to be used of God is my desire. His Hand maiden, Susan Atkins." Susan was connected with the Charles Manson ordeal. Her letter to Moody's School of Correspondence is one of many sent in appreciation of the ministry.

This ministry, begun in 1901 by J.M. Grey, now enrolls almost 118,000 students a year. Nearly half a million pieces of material a year are sent from the office to people desiring a knowledge of the Word.

Student Employment

Student employment changed its name - and its personnel. Miss Nancy Rendel who coordinates women's employment and Mr. Calvin Becker who is in charge of men's employment are kept busy matching class and work schedules. It is a challenge as nearly 70 percent of the student body is employed on a regular or temporary basis. This year out of 2,239 job offers, students filled 1,850.

Food Service

It takes imagination to bring a football game to a cafeteria but Food Service did with candy apples, popcorn, a football film and a lively atmosphere. We ate Carribean style, shared a stomping country breakfast, ate by candlelight to celebrate birthdays - and more.

The cook behind the scene - and the stove - was Mr. Terwilleger, the new Director of Food Service. Mr. Terwilleger had former experience as Director of Food Service at St. Minard Abbey, Indiana.

Bruce Cain — Director (center)

A. V. Center

There's never a dull moment in the Audio-Visual Center. A.V. provides any type of assistance in audio visual areas for students and faculty. Materials for studies, PCW and extra curricular activities are utilized by students. The Center handles all equipment, organizes multi-media presentations and produces photos, slides and overheads for faculty. A.V. personnel also repair all their equipment.

In the last three years the Audio-Visual Center has doubled in space. There is constant improvement to keep in stride with technological growth.

"The pilot is part of a team," said Mr. Robert Rich, Pre-Aviation Coordinator. "He needs to see himself as a servant."

Development of interpersonal relations is necessary as a goal for missionary aviation students.

Practical biblical living and motivation based on serving rather than achievement mark future pilots. A world-view which recognizes God's work on an international scale is taught and integrated into the lives of the men.

The far reaching effects of missionary aviation are produced through their program of transportation of mission and national church members, government assistance and training of nationals.

Al Huffman stepped into the shoes of the outgoing Director of Senior Ensemble and found they fitted perfectly. "It's an enjoyable opportunity," he said. He was also Senior Music Committee Chairman and attempted to combine contemporary, classical and gospel music under the supervision of Mr. Gerald Raquet.

The 12 member group, along with accompanist Carol Surma, was chosen to represent the Senior class at Senior functions. "They were exceptional singers," said Al. "They had to be able to put music together quickly because of surprise rehearsals."

The group was given an outlet to practically apply class teaching on ministering. Their ministry of entertainment brought special acquaintances.

New Disciples

"Go west" was the cry given to the New Disciples for their 1980 summer tour. A 13 day winter tour to Florida, one weekend concert monthly and scheduled Sunday Night Sings kept them singing.

In spite of weary bones and throbbing throats, they gained experiences that wouldn't be traded. "We went to Northfield with Dr. Sweeting. It was exciting to see Moody's birthplace. I'm rereading The Life of D.L. Moody and recognize places mentioned," said Anita Fore.

In their concerts, from Radio Rallies to an elderly Super Sixties group, the New Disciples felt continuity of the message in their songs was important. Their message and lives have been spread through their song.

Kent Taylor with his basketball became a familiar figure during Mission chapels as he urged students to catch a world perspective. As Student Missionary Union vice-president, Kent undertook the task of providing diverse speakers, challenging skits, and information pertinent to world missions.

John Sample returned to Moody and the position of SMU president with his new bride Becky. He discussed and consulted with her before prayerfully accepting the position. John organized and coordinated all areas of SMU and planned the content of a number of Mission chapels. He said, "SMU looks to guide students in the future."

Moody without SMU is like a Chicago winter without snow, for hundreds of Moody students comprise the organization and are active in it. The executive council, MU floor representatives, Prayer Focus leaders and concerned students - that's SMU 79-80.

Epic Club

There was a new twist to the Epic Club this year as president Bruce Bensen emphasized practicing knowledge that had been received in the classroom. "Hands on" training situations were designed primarily for Communication majors but opened to all students. To give exposure and experience in the field of mass communication, students created radio drama, viewed the filming of Christian television and listened to special lecturers.

In his role as president, Bruce found satisfaction in planning and executing learning in non-academic situations. Students experienced satisfaction through understanding what creating involved. Bruce said, "They watched and found it was possible to use textbook information. It built their confidence." This confidence will eventually be transferred into the booming market of Christian communication.

You've heard about the Wordless Book - how about the Gospel on Wings? Pre Aviation Club encouraged its majors to learn more about their role in sharing the Gospel around the world through aviation.

Films, slides, missionary speakers and outings were part of the program to focus on aviation. A panel of 5 men who had experienced the Summer Flight program answered questions of fellow majors. Mr. Bob Rich, Pre Aviation Coordinator and Russ Chapman, president of the club also shared the missionary aviation ministry with Friday Night Challenge.

The club provides orientation for Tennessee. Communication between Tennessee and Moody aviation students is given at meetings. Information shared brings an awareness of happenings in missionary aviation.

Mother Hubbard was reenacted at Married Students Fellowship picnic. Over one hundred children with nearly three hundred and fifty moms and dads attended.

Usually husbands gathered over orange juice early Friday mornings to discuss plans for activities. Ten committees specializing in hospitality to split chapels made the Fellowship effective on and off campus.

Dan Yoho served as a determined and dynamic president for the Fellowship. "Our primary goal was to promote unity between on and off campus married students," he said. The married students considered rapport with single students important in their campus contacts.

The Black Student Fellowship began out of a concern for the unity of Moody's black students and a preservation of the culture in a Christian context. It was felt that black students could better contribute to Moody's international atmosphere by being themselves and offering the school the richness of a strong Black Christian heritage.

Since its embryo status in the Fall of 1978, the Black Student Fellowship has accomplished much. Working as a bridge between Moody and the Black community, the BSF took theological surveys of black secular colleges to better gauge the religious atmosphere as a prelude to witnessing, and began to make inroads into Chicago's black churches by offering input and other useful services.

Although still young in age the BSF continues to mature in perspective as it looks to the future. The goals which lie ahead include a city-wide retreat, field trips to the ethnic neighborhoods, and permanent witnessing bases throughout the black community. The BSF looks to God to continue the good work which He began.

Wanna get involved? - Love a little brother or sister.

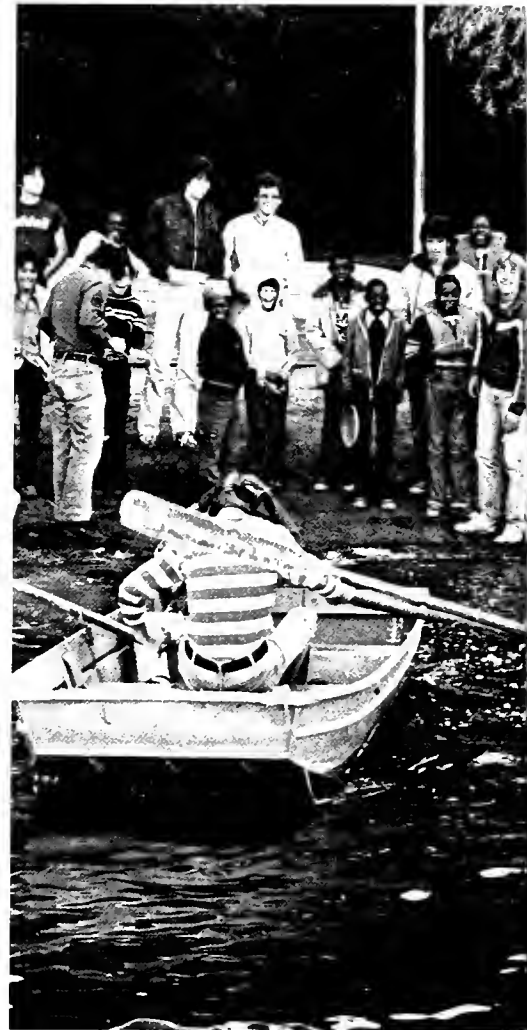

Nearly 180 students participated in this year's Little Brother and Sister Program sponsored by the YMCA. Retreats, fun at Great America, Old Chicago, ballgames and roller skating filled the year. An Open House was given for the parents of the children in October.

Big Bro's and Sis's saw children respond wholeheartedly to love and dish back double portions to them. There was a challenge to be an example of godly adult figures. To Lou Matson, a big brother, the program provided the opportunity to show what true friendship meant and to share Christian values.

Through their program of love students gave themselves to develop one-to-one relationships.

Moody Student

Twice a month in the confines of your quiet room you can prop up your feet, relax and read the paper that reflects you.

The Paper's primary goal is to inform students of news and worthy events taking place on campus. Events within the Chicago area that effect the students are also reported. Opinions on past events are shared in feature style and nooks and crannies are filled with poetry to enjoy. The paper often uses articles to encourage students. This provides an opportunity to practice writing skills and see your ideas in print.

A poem on "Lines" . . . a comic for laughs . . . a sports victory announced . . . a picture of someone you know to clip and keep. And while you have the scissor out - why not clip a Mr. J's coupon?

An Arch staff position is not merely a job - it is an experience. Its hours are not 8:00 to 5:00 - they are any hour within a 24-hour day. We do not work to please a boss - but a student body. Above all, in each Arch staff position is not only an employee - but a life.

Seven individual people working toward one goal is not always an easy task. Patience is tested when the meeting stretches overtime and the real test is in Theology at 8:00 A.M. tomorrow . . . Respecting and accepting other peoples' opinions is learned when your sailboat cover is replaced with the Arch . . . Trusting the Lord to get you through becomes more than a cliché when copy is due a week earlier than you expected . . . We learn to listen, to sympathize, to deal with resentments . . .

Simply stated - we have grown together as individuals. Our theme of transformations is more than a theme to us. Our experiences have made it a reality.

Student Outreach

What is Student Outreach? "It is evangelism - what Moody Bible Institute was founded on," said Chris Schroeder Director of Student Outreach.

Magic tricks or pictures painted on easel boards are used to illustrate man's sin and his need for Christ. Since our society is media oriented people, they enjoy watching a man paint or do a rope trick while the Gospel is presented.

Student Outreach has definitely been at work at MBI. The first meeting held involved 47 students; the second meeting drew 98. The number of trained preachers is now 13-15, while only 5 men preached in 1978. Student Outreach is sold to reaching out to Chicago.

Friday Night Challenge

Caught a fish . . . a cold . . . a basketball or a world vision lately? "Reaching Out Together" with a world perspective was the theme for Friday Night Challenge, directed by Kent Taylor, SMU's vice-president.

The function of Friday Night Challenge was to both focus on the needs of foreign missions and to challenge students to consider the role they might have in foreign missions. Realizing that not all students are Foreign Missions majors, Friday Night Challenge coordinators purposed to direct thinking toward evangelization of the world — at home and abroad.

Getting students to be personally involved in a world view was achieved through a variety of programs ranging from speakers and films to panel groups comprised of MBI's missionary students.

So . . . watch out world . . . the full impact of Friday Night Challenge is coming when MBI'ers catch a world vision!

Prayer Focus

What in the world are you doing about the world? How does a student in downtown Chicago find out about the far corners of the earth? It's easy — the world comes to us through a choice of 9 Prayer Foci offered weekly at school. These involve nine very different areas and various religions.

Informing students about the needs of the world we live in is the purpose of the various Prayer Focus groups here at MBI.

As the name implies, Prayer Focus emphasizes prayer for special needs known for a country. These needs are collected via letters from missionaries, MK's, personal knowledge of a country and information from the book Operation World. Slides, speakers and music also are utilized at the meetings.

1) Students pray for those on the foreign fields
2) Where two or more are gathered in His name, He will bless 3) Making intercession for missionaries 4) Prayer Focus leaders.

Tutoring

SMACK! An icy snowball hit its unsuspecting target dead center. The victim whirled around to find the offender was the little brown-eyed girl she had been tutoring in the Montgomery Ward, Cabrini-Green tutoring program.

Through the tutoring program, over 30 Moody students faced the challenge of helping a child develop reading skills and achieve greater self-confidence. Reading drills, educational games along with one-on-one sharing aided in accomplishing these goals. The task wasn't always easy. The children were unpredictable and their honesty often frustrated tutors.

It was when a child read a story he had previously stumbled through clearly and correctly, or reached over and gave an unexpected hug, tutors realized the deep benefits of sharing their time. Friendships, learning and a graduation party for sixth graders marked the year as beneficial reward.

1) Cindy Grant and her "student" take a break from the books. 2) Danny Wall does his homework while his "instructors" look on.

Reaching Out To Cabrini-Green

Evangelism on a playground? On a baseball diamond? It makes sense for Moody students ministering at Cabrini-Green where 75 percent of the 16-20 thousand residents are under 18. Children's clubs and sports evangelism provided opportunities to present the gospel to 12,000 children.

Various programs were used to penetrate the black world of Cabrini-Green: Sunday School, individual discipleship, Bible studies, Brother-Sister friendships and tutoring. Tutoring was especially effective as black students sought to achieve academically to avoid unemployment and a welfare existence.

A ministry that faces cultural obstacles isn't easy. "When you say six out of thousands have been saved it doesn't sound encouraging - but we have to start somewhere," said Lisa Anderson a children's club leader. Amidst obstacles, the gospel was shared.

Quality rather than quantity was the hallmark of this year's wrestling team. A glance at individual talent revealed a high calibre team of wrestlers.

Tim McClure, at 177 pounds, emerged as the undisputed champion of the Grand Rapids and Maranatha tournaments. Jim Holder took second at Grand Rapids and fourth at Maranatha, while Paul Houvener held third at both events. Mike Danielle took second place at Grand Rapids and Ken Parkhurst, third. Third place at Maranatha went to Curt Wilkinson. The competitions involved eight to nine schools represented at each tournament.

Coach Joe Greenbaum was assisted by Tom Edelen, Men's Head Resident. The team members provided enthusiasm and skill which served to broaden the intramural aspect of Moody wrestling.

CHEERLEADERS + TEAM = A TEAM. "We're on the floor with the team just like the guys on the bench. We make up part of the team," said Ranita Korpak, Captain.

Time was the largest factor involved in leading. There were places to go, details to remember, notes to distribute and practices to keep. With seven girls "someone had to decide what had to be done - especially on the floor," said Ranita.

Ranita, the only returning cheerleader, acted as a go-between for the seven cheerleaders and Coach Carolyn Rafferty. Carolyn then mediated for Ranita and Administration.

With most of the games away from home the cheerleaders were often the only home support. For all their time and effort the teams give a big "THANKS!"

Intramurals Provide Relief from Tension

Add friends, brother-sister floor members, referees, Sports Representatives, players and a rowdy cheering section and you have Intramurals 1979-80.

The games, headed by Miss Claudia Long and Mr. Joe Greenbaum, included team and individual sports. Intramurals served as a channel to unite floor members by encouraging teamwork. Floor members became acquainted as they strove for victories to attain the largest number of floor points.

"I see Intramurals as a method to carry out the encouragement we are given to be balanced Christians," said Jenny Bixler, third floor Sports Representative.

Chorale combined male and female voices, four-part harmony, and Mr. Gerald Edmonds to create a musically excellent group. "You had to work hard and apply yourself. It was a challenge," said one Chorale member. Singing brought satisfaction and encouragement not only to listeners but members as well. Often the group read the words of songs as prayers before concerts.

Outings provided a relaxed atmosphere with time to make friends. But Chorale's best friend was Director, Mr. Ed. He had a unique style of saving face while pointing out individual sour notes. He started with "in this general area" and ended up with names. Chorale laughed, tried again and produced a song that was truly worth singing.

The selected individuals have been singing ever since. Their weekly two and a half hours of practice included devotions, warm-up exercises and sectional rehearsals.

But Men's Glee is more than rehearsals. It's an opportunity to build friendships through sharing different perspectives. It's more than a song - it's a ministry of evangelism and encouragement. "With Men's Glee," said one onlooker, "there are not performers but people who communicate."

"Once a glee girl, always a glee girl" isn't just a saying. Women's Glee received letters from former glee members, were greeted by elderly members at concerts and visited by glee girls who missed the glee family.

Women's Glee wasn't another class but an enjoyable time spent. Katie Marshall, Committee chairman, said, "We don't just sing. We pray together when the going gets rough." Answers were as exciting as well-sung concerts.

Was it possible for such a large number of "sisters" to get along? "Yes. There were no obvious conflicts," said one member. "We didn't compete. We were all equal and willing to give and learn from each other." Now that's harmony!

"Worship without words" was the unique presentation of the Moody Band. An explanation by Mr. Henry Hecht, Director, preceded each song for comprehensive listening by the audience. Not only did the Band reach adults but children watched, wide-eyed as members played various instruments. Naturally, the drums won their heart.

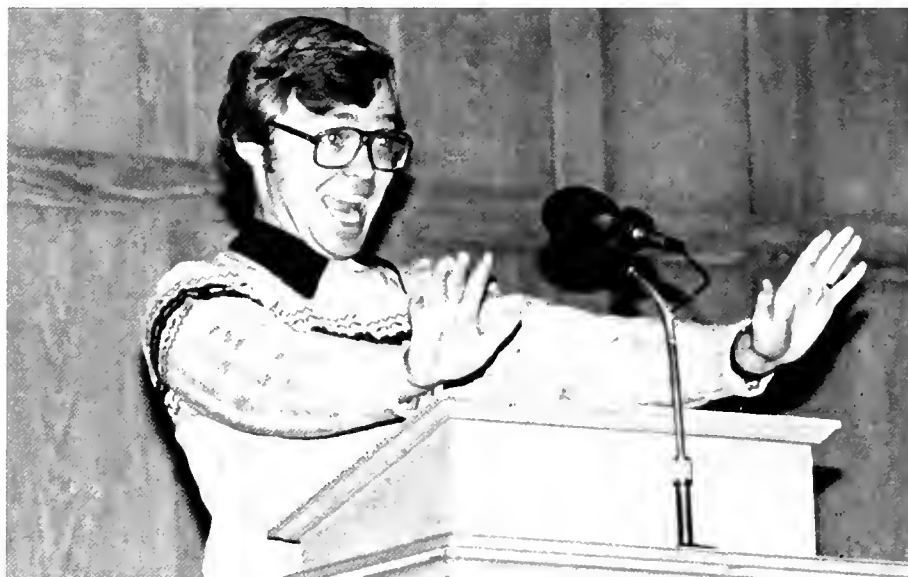

A love for music was most members reason for joining the Band. "I wanted to go to California on tour. I didn't expect to learn so much," said one flute player with a smile. Mr. Hecht was fun-loving yet he demanded hard work and was rewarded with professional sound in the Band's music. I'll bet they enjoyed playing as much as we did listening!

Spiritual Emphasis Week

Spiritual Emphasis Week, November 6-9, uplifted exhausted students after midterm examinations. Dr. Wendell Kempton, a 1954 Moody graduate and president of the Association of Baptists for World Evangelism, was the special speaker. Dr. Kempton spoke to the problem of "crowded pews and empty people. In our desire to increase in numbers, we have created a group of people with empty hearts," he said. Communion, commitment, concern and a spiritual checklist were presented as the solution in the life of the collegiate.

Dr. Kempton's enthusiasm and knowledge from experience was not confined to chapel sessions. He spent time with students in counseling and showed slides of his recent trip to China with Jack Wyrzten.

"The Commitment of Discipleship" was the topic of the closing session. The Rev. Lawrence Wynne said, "We must be world-wide Christians in our outlook, concern and commitment."

The conference provided a break from class routine and allowed student participation in general sessions and elective seminars. Display booths on second floor Culby offered literature, and permitted interaction between students and missionaries.

Founders Week 1980 began with five established goals: 1) To glorify God 2) To teach God's Word 3) To encourage and revive God's people 4) To undergird the local church 5) To accelerate world evangelism. We watched the fulfillment of these goals as guest speakers focused on the theme "Watchman, what of the Night?"

Dr. Sweeting began with a word of warning concerning finances, visibility, adulation and wastefulness. He sounded the trumpet of advance in view of our position and promises in Christ Jesus.

Dr. J. Vernon McGee called our attention to God's use of Job, an upright man, to illustrate repentance. He asked the forceful question, "Are you a paid lover?"

Dr. Earl Radmacher, who dominated the 9:45 morning sessions, spoke on the Holy Spirit. "The Holy Spirit does not desire to be on the center stage," he said. He noted that griping was not of God. "Whenever I hear someone griping, I ask how they got out of the control of the Holy Spirit and how I can help them return to that control," he stated.

"Church pillars or caterpillars" were the two types of Christians described by Dr. David Breese. He warned us not to be surprised at the state of the world-it shows how little we know about our Bibles.

The theme continued as David L. Larsen, John Phillips, Mrs. Irwin and Dr. Billy Kim ministered. 94 year old Dr. Herbert Lockyer, Sr. spoke directly to Isaiah 21:11. Erwin Lutzer and Dr. Charles Ryrie shared in afternoon sessions. Dr. Martin confirmed that "The Blessed Hope is Still the Blessed Hope".

Dr. Bruce Dunn gave a stirring challenge for Christian involvement in politics; Dr. Stuart Briscoe sought to stimulate us to wholesome thinking according to II Peter 3:1.

Colonel James B. Irwin gave us an unusual glimpse of God's great universe. Dr. E. V. Hill gave a beautiful illustration of God's giving grace as he tossed Moody Press books to the audience and platform members. Josh McDowell challenged us to be good stewards of our Moody education. His argument for intellectual validity of Christianity was based on the historical resurrection.

Our glimpse of the oncoming night gave us a new awareness of our responsibility in the falling shadows.

The Pope Arrives

As soon as we arrived at school after the summer, we heard of the Pope's impending visit to Chicago. The big news for the next two months was the Pope's visit. The newscasts and news articles discussing the Pope's tour of the U.S. bombarded the public.

As his visit approached, the media began informing people of the various public appearances he would be making. The papers even mapped out the routes he was to take.

The week of his visit was during MBI's missionary conference, and he was scheduled to pass by our school on one of those nights. Until the hour of his arrival I was not sure I would try to catch a glimpse of this famous man. But when the time came, I was to be found waiting among the rest of the students for a look at the Polish Pope. He finally arrived, tucked away in a black limousine. All I saw was his figure lighted up.

Later in my room while reflecting upon the event, I experienced a letdown. For weeks his visit had been built up. Catholics and non-Catholics had looked forward to this historic event. Then, in a matter of hours, the Pope was gone leaving the people with nothing of eternal permanence. All that was left was the memory of his visit, or the touch of his hand to those who got close enough to him. He left no real hope.

I Peter 1:24&25 tells us that the leaders of this world will pass away, but the word of God will stand forever. Men cannot give us the hope we long for. The only real hope is in Christ Jesus.

Current Events . . .

Shaeffer Films

In the fall of 1979 Francis Shaeffer and his film seminar, "Whatever Happened to the Human Race?", came to Chicago.

Many Moody students were privileged to hear Dr. Schaeffer, Dr. Koops, Dr. Jefferson and others speak on abortion, infanticide, and euthanasia.

While speaking on infanticide Dr. Koops gave an interesting illustration. He said that he asked one woman what was the worst thing that had ever happened to her. She said, "Having a mentally retarded son." Then he asked her what was the best thing that ever happened to her. Her answer was, "Having a mentally retarded son."

The seminar was a little hard for some to understand at times, yet there was such a need for it. Too many Christians are blind to what is happening in their world today.

Lutzer Installed

Erwin Lutzer grew up in the farmlands of Canada where he was surrounded by his five older brothers and sisters. A common pastime for him was reciting Scripture as he plowed those golden fields. This was a logical preparation for the ministry which Mr. Lutzer now plays a paramount role in.

Lutzer was installed as pastor of Moody Memorial Church on January 20th. It was an eventful service with Dr. George Sweeting, president of Moody Bible Institute, setting forth the charge to the congregation. In addition, Dr. John Walvoord, president of Dallas Theological Seminary was also on hand to put forth the charge to the pastor. Mr. Lutzer concluded the service by stating some of his proposals for the future of Moody Church. The church is in for a fruitful and beneficial ministry with Erwin Lutzer as pastor.

World Affairs . . .

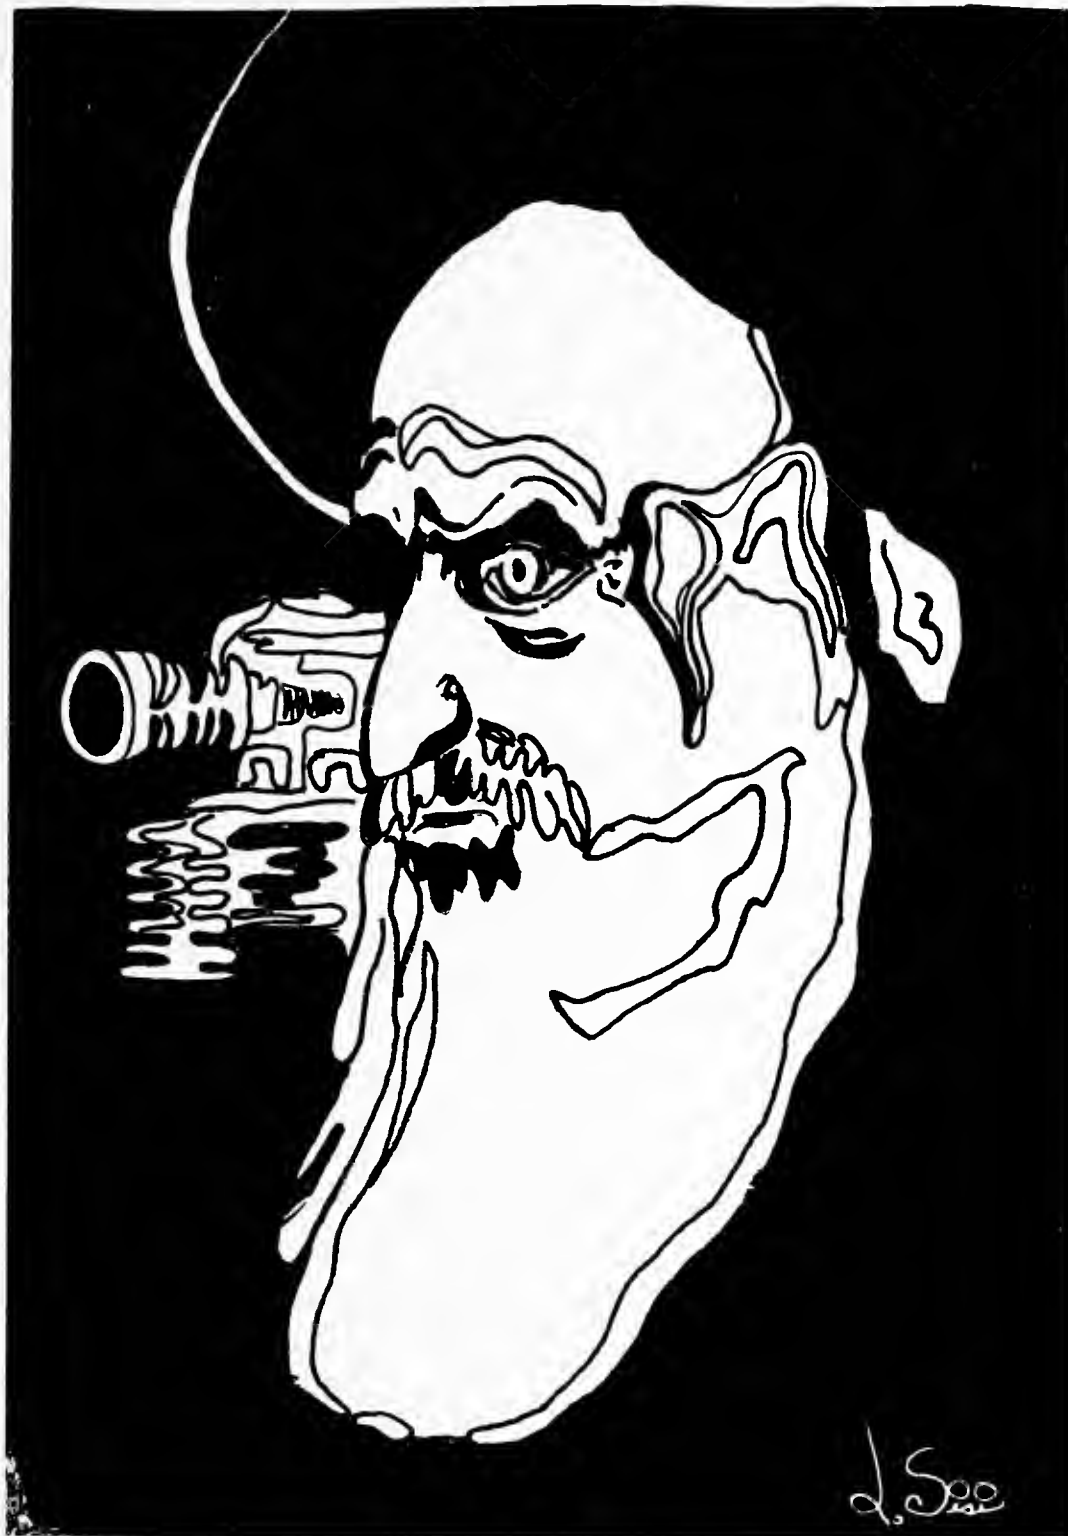

Exiled Soviet prisoner, Georgi Vins, spoke to students during a chapel session which was extended for a question and answer period. The evangelical leader was released in April 1979 from the Soviet Union.

Georgi Vins brought first hand knowledge of persecution behind the iron curtain. Vins gave an accurate account without speaking bitterly of the people who had persecuted him. We witnessed the result of his trials—spiritual serenity and authority.

“It was exciting to hear about young people who were so dedicated to their faith that they held meetings in spite of persecution,” said one student after hearing Natasha, daughter of Georgi Vins.

This eye witness report challenged students to realize anew that God has placed them in a body where “if one part suffers, every part suffers with it” I Cor. 12:26.

They Affect Us

Two years ago he was in exile, a muted voice as far as the Christian world was concerned. Today he is the spiritual grandfather of the greatest resurgence of Islamic pride since the heydays of the Ottoman Empire.

A man of great inner depth and will, the Ayatullah Ruhollah Khomeini in the course of a year has managed to: 1) overthrow one of the most powerful rulers in the Mideast, 2) start a worldwide awakening among Islamic people, encouraging them to explore and obey the Koran and the Hadiths (Apostolic Traditions), 3) hold the most powerful nation in the free world at bay and, 4) convince Time magazine that he and not the Pope, nor a woman Prime Minister had done the most to affect world events within the past year.

All this from a man 79 years old, whose most powerful asset is his personality and drive. A fitting reminder to Christians everywhere that the Lord still uses scourges to awake His sleeping church and rouse it to action.

Classes

"Seniors are really approachable. I value my friendships with them." Dan Snyder

"The underclassmen always seem to have to pay a fine or fill out a form." Mark Metcalfe.

Senior Class 1980

Bryan Clark, Senior Class president, viewed his position as "enjoyable and beneficial." "I wanted to have a stronger influence in class activities," he stated as his motivation for involvement on the Senior Executive Committee.

Involvement meant time. Time to plan chapels, socials and Senior Retreat. Senior Prayer Breakfasts were given in the Kimball Room. All activities were designed to draw the class together in friendship and spiritual unity.

The class chose not to simply exist but to influence other students. "Through our enthusiasm we wanted to show that the Senior year can be an exciting time of maturing," said Bryan.

Senior class officers - Bryan Clark, Pres., Bob Sweeting, Vice Pres., Nancy Anderson, Corresponding Sec., Kim Hescott, Recording

Sec., Janet Philippi, Treasurer., Dan Johannan, Chaplain.

LISA ANDERSON, Involved in Cabrini Green ministries - Lisa's move from Detroit to Chicago exposed her to the dire needs of the inner city. Highly self-motivated, Lisa sought for a ministry that would demand total commitment. Cabrini Green was her answer.

The biggest emphasis in inner city work is on the children who are far more open than adults. Visitation, discipleship and Bible studies are other facets used to present the gospel.

The key to inner city work is a genuine love for the people. "You can't simply feel sorry - you have to help them. Help is more than a structured program. It's allowing yourself to get close and be a friend."

CHRIS SCHROEDER, Student Outreach. I saw him downtown the other day. "May I give you something to read?" he asked as he thrust a tract towards me. "No, thank you," I smiled.

He passed a middle-aged man on the street. "Good day, sir. Jesus loves you."

Chris Schroeder believes that men need Jesus Christ, here and now. That was his reason for becoming involved in Student Outreach. Student Outreach stepped outside the Institute's boundaries to tell Chicago residents and workers about Christ. Student Outreach volunteers transferred classroom knowledge to simple, practical explanations for a dying world. Chris Schroeder's deep convictions made his time with Student Outreach more than a Saturday night involvement. His desire and goal to share Christ is a lifestyle.

LOUISE VALECH, Discipleship in Action Leader. Discipleship in Action (DIA) is supervised by Dr. Graendorf. Its program allows students to practice discipleship principles during their Moody training.

The 7 members of DIA were involved in building the C.E. program of Seminary Avenue Community Church. Their approach was to choose 4 church members to learn teaching methods by participating with DIA students. A basic discipleship principle-making teachers by example. "We made our mistakes," said Louise, "but we're learning too. I wouldn't trade the experience for anything."

ELIZABETH SOUCIE, Intermural Head Assistant. Elizabeth subbed as a referee for a volleyball game, liked it and took the position as Intermural Head Assistant.

A simple game of volleyball became a growing experience. Exercise became a practical opportunity to build interpersonal relationships between floor members. Letting off steam checked sportsmanship reactions under tension.

From watching scores of games Elizabeth believes that "athletics are a part of the Christian's life. They allow him to expand physically and socially."

Third Year Aviation

In a valley surrounded by trees, lakes and mountains stands the Moody Aviation facilities. There are no dorms so students rent houses and apartments in the town nearby.

The curriculum is totally mechanical. Eight hours of daily classes are divided into classroom lecture, lab, shop and flying experience. Classes begin with a devotional given by a student, and prayer. Nights are used for homework.

The schedule is intensive and there is little time to enjoy what has been learned before the student is moved to the next step in learning. Aptitude, motivation and teachability are keys to gaining necessary skills. The hardships and joys of learning are taken in stride by men who believe first and foremost that God wants them to be missionaries.

Six to seven years for a diploma?! That's how long some evening school graduates waited to receive that well deserved diploma.

Patience, desire and dedication characterized the graduates. Truck drivers, school teachers, housewives, Moody employees and others worked eight hours a day and went to school at night. Their desire to learn served as an incentive to face rush hour traffic and subway crowds. "Moody was like a haven of refreshment where we found fellowship with like-minded believers after facing the world all week," said an evening school student.

Patience, desire and dedication . . . Their diplomas were certainly well deserved. Congratulations and blessings.

"We needed time to stop and do nothing so we could be with each other," said Junior president Bill Turner. So the executive committee encouraged Juniors to temporarily set aside their books for organized prayer and encouragement ministries directed toward the freshmen class and faculty members. Encouragement involved praying, meeting with assigned individuals, or sending thoughtful notes. The desired goal of unity for Juniors was achieved by reaching out.

Meanwhile the class executive committee worked diligently behind the scenes with plans for the Junior/Senior banquet, Senior reception, upcoming Senior retreat, chapels and socials. Amid the success and confusion, Juniors organized qualitative activities and proved their suspected potentiality. "We have a class of dynamic personalities," said Bill. "Getting to know each other was a worthwhile goal."

Welcoming New Students to MBI

I got it all in two bags!

Do these lines ever end?

Welcome Week 1980

Snoopy reigned during Welcome Week on almost 50 bright yellow T-shirts of students who welcomed freshmen to Moody and Orientation Week. Welcome Week members arrived one day before the freshmen, went to work the next morning at 7:00 and got to bed at ??? WW members with sore feet, sweat, smiles and their Snoopy T-shirts loaded and unloaded trunks, books, clothes, boxes, suitcases . . . They became friends, listeners, a shoulder to cry on as freshmen adjusted to the big city and college.

Adjustment was eased with tours of great Chicago, an ice-cream social in the rain, skits, magic show, and music by the New Disciples. There were the slow marches through registration, I.D. card and account payment lines, and the freshman inherited the WW members' tired feet, but kept their smiles.

Welcome week packet - You mean it's free?!

How much more stuff have you got in there?

FRESHMEN

Butterflies as big as elephants
 . . . lines . . . Welcome Week smiles
 . . . lines . . . tears . . . lots of mail from home . . . lines . . . frequent long distance calls charged to Mom and Dad . . . Soon mail became scarce as freshmen discovered that college wasn't so bad, and parents adjusted to their absence with a sigh of relief at the lowered phone bill.

The freshmen class numbering nearly 650 was the largest class in the history of Moody. Jeff Mosier, freshmen president, set as a class goal to build an awareness that each student needed an intimate relationship with Christ. He said, "We come with high expectations and are disappointed to find we are living with people who have problems like us. We look at the students around us and say 'some of them will be great Christians - but not me.'
 Through the year we realized that within each student lies the potential to be greatly used of God."

Bruce Mushial - Chaplain, Flint Calvin - Vice Pres., Debbie DeYoung - Rec. sec., Jeff Mosier - Pres., Mark Ondracek - Treas., Sue Ciavirelli - Corresponding sec., Not pictured.

A.S.P.

Leaving a variety of occupations from an art teacher to an eye-doctor, ASP students invaded our campus for a short year. All that is left is their friendships and contributions to the school and community. However brief, it was a year of reflecting, goal setting, and studying.

Dennis Page, ASP president, left his organ-piano business to come to Moody with his wife and two children. As a deacon of his church he desired to gain confidence in teaching the Word and discipling. He said of the ASP class, "Our fellowship and love is special. ASP students are people who believe God has something special for their lives - that's why they're here."

Consider This: How You Can Be Part of the Pacific Garden Mission Ministry

You may not be able to join us in person in ministering to down-and-outers and others reached by Pacific Garden Mission. But you can have a definite part in our far-reaching ministry. Here's how:

1. Pray for the working of the Holy Spirit in lives as we daily conduct three Gospel meetings and three Bible classes for new Christians and others.

2. Pray for the men and women who profess faith in Christ. Pray that the Holy Spirit will give them a hunger for the Word and victory over the sin that has ruled their lives for so many years. Annually hundreds pray the sinner's prayer in the PGM prayer room.

3. Pray that our staff will daily show compassion and a sensitivity to the spiritual needs of those who come to Pacific Garden Mission seeking food, clothing, shelter, and medical aid.

4. Pray for the ministry of "Unshackled!" around the world. This unique Gospel broadcast, featuring true stories of people changed by Christ, is broadcast on some 425 stations in the U.S. and 21 other countries. Write for a listing of stations and share information about "Unshackled!" broadcasts.

5. Visit us to see firsthand what God is doing through Pacific Garden Mission. Write for the folder titled "Visit PGM." You are welcome anytime, night or day!

Pastor, When Did You Last Personally Evaluate Your Sunday School's Curriculum?

One more job added to a full-time effort. That's how your administrative responsibilities can often seem.

But to know where your Sunday School is going, and how well, is vital.

A STEP-BY-STEP EVALUATION PROCEDURE.

We can't find the time for you, but we can minimize the time this evaluation will take. We can send you a twenty point evaluation guide when you order the David C. Cook full-school Evaluation Center.

This guide was designed by Dr. Ronald C. Doll and first appeared in Christianity Today. It takes you step-by-step through a thorough evaluation of your Sunday School's present program. Dr. Doll received his doctorate from Columbia University and is professor of education at the City University of New York.

DIRECT COMPARISON.

The David C. Cook full-school Evaluation Center gives you a means of direct comparison. It furnishes samples of all materials for every age level and costs only $19.95 ($49.95 value). This cost is refundable if center is returned within 45 days.

"I have given them
the glory that you gave me, that they may be one as we are one : I in them and you in me . May they be brought to complete unity to let the world know that you sent me and have loved them even as you have loved me."

*"Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow: they do not neither do they sow nor reap;
yet I say unto you that even Solomon, in all his glory, was not arrayed like one of these."*

Class of 1980...

*...and I hope you someone to call a friend
If you have felt the sunlight on your face today, or saw the blue sky and laughed
If you have fallen flat on your face and known God to reach out and take your hand and say . . .
I still love you . . .
Then you have been blessed"*

Although I probably shouldn't admit it, I have dreaded writing this page. What could I say that hasn't been said by previous editors? I could tell what it's like being an editor, but I don't want to scare off any prospects for the editorship next fall. Seriously, I am glad I took the job. I have learned things I will be able to carry over and use later on.

My job does not just consist of setting the wheels in motion and making sure everything runs smoothly. I do not just work with pictures, copy, and layouts. If I did, my job would be much easier. The hardest part of my job is working with people. That includes the staff, administration, students, the photography studio, etc. The editor is forced to be a leader whether it comes naturally or not. Sometimes there are emotional struggles that have to be dealt with before work can be done on the yearbook. At times I have wondered how my staff has kept their sanity. But they all lived through it and hopefully have gained something from the experience.

I feel we have incorporated several new ideas into this book, and I hope that you enjoy your copy. Our theme this year is Transformations. As you look back over the year, I hope that you will be able to see some transformations in your life.

Looking for transformations in my life,

Lynne Turner
